... Iowa is situated midway between the two great oceans of the world, in the most fertile valley on the globe, with an immense tract to the westward, yet to be settled and converted to the purposes of civilization; on the east, she is connected by all the great highways with the Eastern States, teeming with wealth, and rejoicing in an enterprising population, whose invention and energy know no limits. With these features in the geography of Iowa, with the resources within her boundaries, with the energetic population within her borders, who shall calculate her future? (1856)

the IAGenWeb Project

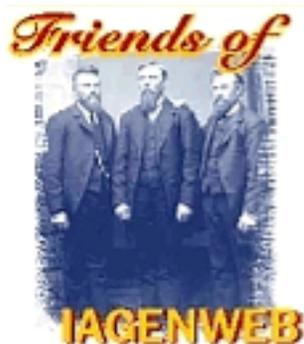

IAGenWeb was founded on August 6, 1996, by a few people dedicated to having genealogical information free on the Internet.

Today, the IAGenWeb project consists of 92 volunteers working to transcribe data, develop web sites and respond to questions on the 99 county sites.

Programs on the IAGenWeb server have enabled us to achieve new heights in the gathering and presentation of genealogical information. They include:

- Iowa Genealogy Boards that now have thousands of names in obituaries, news items, biographies and more.
- Gravestone Photo Project that contains nearly 250,000 photos.
- Search engines that can search all of the county boards.

These advancements were made possible by the Friends of IAGenWeb, a 501(c)(3) organization whose sole purpose is to fund the Iowa project.

IAGenWeb is governed by a set of by-laws written and adopted by the county coordinators. The by-laws define the organization and lay down parameters of leadership.

IAGENWEB SPECIAL PROJECTS

Orphan Train Riders to Iowa Project

From 1853-1929 a mass migration of approximately 300,000 orphan children was in progress all across America. It is estimated that 8-10,000 babies, young children and young adults were brought to Iowa from many orphanages in Boston, New York and other northeastern coastal cities.

Works In Progress Administration (WPA) Gravestone Project

There are 650,000+ records within 81 Iowa counties. This is a great research tool, even though there are inconsistencies.

<http://iowawpagraves.org/>

Iowa Family Group Sheets

More than 3000 family group sheets have been submitted by people whose ancestors lived in Iowa.

Iowa in the Civil War

A project for people with an interest in genealogy and history related to Iowa and Iowa ancestors in the Civil War (1861-1865).

<http://iagenweb.org/civilwar/>

Iowa Gravestone Photo Project

An extensive collection of gravestone photos, over 225,000, from Iowa cemeteries.

<http://iowagravestones.org/>

Iowa State Census Project

Identify, transcribe and publish online, all of the state (non-federal) censuses for Iowa in a consistent, logical manner. <http://iagenweb.org/census/>

The Iowa History Project

Bringing the history of Iowa alive through the transcription of various Iowa history books and documents. This is a central repository for Iowa History you may not have considered.
